Engage Touch screens are acquired by various NHS organisations such as Clinical Commissioning Groups, Clinical Support Units, Health Boards, and GP Practices across the UK. Our patient check-in screens work with all patient call-in screens. The robust design means these screens have also been procured by HM Prison Service.

Mobile Functionality

Currently in development is the ability for patients to check-in via their mobile phones. This will be added as a new feature for all customers at no extra cost and released very soon.

What do practices say about using Engage Touch

“Our touchscreen is working a treat and we wish we had got it years ago!”

Theresa, Practice Manager

“The screens are great, and patients are happier as they don’t have to stand in a queue to check in”

Tracey, Patient Services Manager

“We wouldn’t want to be without our touchscreen. It’s straightforward, simple to use and 95% of our FFT is completed through the touchscreen”

Siobhan, Practice Manager

Formerly known as Wiggly-Amps Ltd, and rebranded back in December 2018 as Engage Health Systems, we have been designing and developing user-friendly software and hardware solutions to make patients and clinicians lives easier for over twenty years.

From our innovative online and video consultation system to our 'assembled to order' check-in touch screens, patient care is at the heart of everything we do, and why we're passionate about redefining the overall patient experience.

But it's more than just helping practices improve the quality of primary healthcare for patients. We want to help patients to feel better connected, better supported, and better engaged. That's why we're obsessed with what we do and why our team is at the forefront of exciting new primary healthcare technology developments.
